UNOPPOSED MOTION TO PRECLEAR RUNOFF PROCEDURES

In its judgment of January 6, 2017, the Court ordered that no change in a voting qualification, standard, practice, or procedure be enforced unless it is first submitted to the Attorney General of the United States or to this Court for a finding that the qualification, standard, practice, or procedure does not have the purpose and will not have the effect of denying or abridging the right to vote on account of race or color or in contravention of the voting guarantees set forth in 52 U.S.C. § 10303(f)(2). Patino v City of Pasadena, No. H-14-3241, Final Judgment and Order of Injunction. (Doc. 162). This requirement continues until June 30, 2023, and the Court has retained jurisdiction until that time. Id. The May 6 election for the city council necessitated a runoff in two single-member districts. The runoff, slated for June 10, 2023, will be the last election conducted before the preclearance requirement set out in this Court’s 2017 order expires.

Because no candidate obtained a majority in the May 6 election, a runoff will be required in council districts A and G. District A is the most heavily Hispanic district in the city with 71.03 percent Spanish surname registered voters (SSRV). District G is the sixth most heavily Hispanic district with 44.33 percent SSRV. In both Districts A and G, the candidates who qualified for the runoff have Spanish surnames—Ignacia Garcia and Ruben Villarreal in District A and Paola Velasco and Orinaldo Ybarra in District G. A copy of the May 6 canvass and order calling the runoff election is attached as Exhibit A.<sup>1</sup>

As was the case with the May general election, the runoff will be conducted through a contract with Harris County. While multiple Harris County jurisdictions conducted elections on May 6, resulting in polling places throughout the county, Pasadena is the only entity contracting with the county to conduct an election that requires a runoff. Thus, other than the opportunity to cast an in-person early vote at the downtown Houston Harris County Administration Building, all the polling locations will be in Pasadena.

The Date of the Runoff

The date for the runoff is Saturday, June 10, 2023. Although the specific date is a matter of choice, statute requires that it be no earlier than the 20th day and no later than the 45th day after the final canvass of the main election. Tex. Elec. Code, § 2.025(a). June 10, which is the 25th day following the canvass, falls within the statutorily prescribed window.

<sup>1</sup> Assuming that all the candidates with Spanish surnames are Hispanic, which we believe is the case, and since all the candidates in the two races that remain to be decided have Spanish surnames, we know that the 2022 redistricting plan resulted in five of the eight city council districts being represented by Hispanics. Additionally, District D is represented by Ms. Van Houte who was unopposed for election in 2023. During the Patino trial it was established that she was a candidate of Hispanic choice. In the May 6 election, no non-Hispanic candidates prevailed when running against one or more Hispanic candidates.

Polling Places

Early Voting

In-person early voting will be conducted at the Harris County Administration Building in central Houston where the county elections office is located. Additionally, two early voting sites will be provided in Pasadena, one in each of the two districts in which a runoff will be conducted. The John Phelps Courthouse is located in District A, and the Cleveland Ripley Neighborhood Center is in District G. Both served as early voting and election-day polling places during the May 6 election, so people recognize them as places to vote. During the May 6 election, there was a third early voting site in Pasadena, but in that election all Pasadena residents were eligible to vote in either the election for their council representative or in the Crime Control and Prevention District special election or both.<sup>2</sup>

There will be eight days of in-person early voting, and that period will include voting on a Saturday and Sunday. This is the same number of days and the same amount of weekend voting as in the 2021 runoff election, which was the last runoff election in the city.

Election-Day

There will be two election-day polling places in Pasadena—one in each of the two districts in which a runoff is being held. Because Harris County is a vote center county, voters can choose to vote in either so long as they reside in one of the two districts in which there is a runoff. The two election-day sites are the same sites that will be used for early voting in the runoff, and both were used as election-day polling places in those two districts on May 6. There was one additional <sup>2</sup> There were contested races in six of the city's eight single-member districts. Additionally, all residents could vote in the election relating to continuation of the Crime Control and Prevention District. Most Pasadena residents' ballots also contained contested races for trustee positions in the Pasadena Independent School District and San Jacinto College. In the June 10 runoff election only the residents of Districts A and G will be eligible to vote, and their ballot will contain only one race—i.e., either the District A or District G council race.

polling place in each of the two districts during the general election, but it is customary to have fewer sites in a runoff where turn-out is typically lower.<sup>3</sup> Further, the vast majority of ballots in the two districts in the May election were cast early—69.4 percent of the District A ballots and 74.5 percent of the District G ballots. Indeed, even in the unlikely event that the same number of election-day voters voted in the two districts as did on May 6, it would amount to only ten voters per hour in District A and 15 per hour in District G. It is safe to say that there should be no wait time to cast a vote at either location. The city will post signs in English and Spanish at the May 6 polling places in Districts A and G that are not being used in the June runoff directing anyone who seeks to vote there to the location of polling places that are in use.

CONCLUSION

The City of Pasadena respectfully requests that the Court find that the date of the June 10, 2023, the dates and sites for early voting, and the sites for election-day voting have neither the purpose or effect of denying or abridging the right to vote on account of race or language minority status.

CERTIFICATE OF CONFERENCE

I have shared this motion and proposed order with Nina Perales, the attorney for the plaintiff in this cause, and I am authorized to represent that the plaintiff does not oppose the motion for preclearance.

<sup>3</sup> The most recent council runoff was in 2021 and involved Districts B and E. In those districts the election-day turnout in the runoff produced 57 percent of the election-day votes cast in the District B general election and 69 percent of the election-day votes cast in District E. A lower turnout is also to be expected because there will be only the one race on the ballot as opposed to seven races (city council district, Crime Control proposition, three school trustee positions, and two college trustee positions) on the May 6 ballot.

Respectfully submitted,
